New Assessment System May Go Into Effect August 20; Commissioners Study Survey

Adams County's new assessment system may go into effect August 20, it was learned today.

The Adams County commissioners today studied final phases of the new assessment as required by law, and are expected to give the "go ahead signal" setting the date for the assessments within a few days.

Work toward the new county-wide assessment began about two years ago when William G. Weaver was appointed chief assessor for the county. Forms were sent to all assessors for a survey of every property in the county.

The work has progressed rapidly since that time, even though complicated by the fact that 100 or more changes per month had to be made as properties changed hands, new structures erected or old ones removed.

20,000 Properties

Survey cards have been completed on the more than 20,000 properties in the county. Front foot values of properties have been set for the different communities: acreage values have been set for the farming areas. Listed on the cards is such information as the size, shape and type of house and other buildings, what type of roofs, plumbing facilities and other details to give a fair estimate of value. The cards are designed to give a true value for each property.

A percentage of the true value will be used as the assessed value. That percentage is expected to be 25 per cent.

The county-wide assessment is scheduled to straighten out inequalities between communities and townships in the county. Records kept by the State Tax Equalization Board show that the percentage of assessed value to actual value in the county ranges from 16 per cent in a few cases to approximately 30 per cent in other districts.

Adopt One Ratio

The new assessment program is designed to make the ratio the same throughout the county, "so that everyone pays his fair share of the tax," the commissioners said.

Today and probably Thursday will be devoted to a final check of all the information gathered so far, final decisions on how to handle the expected large number of appeals that will come before the commissioners with the introduction of the new system, and completion of numerous other final details of the plan.

The new assessment program is required by law to go into effect throughout the state in 1955. Adams County is among the first counties in the state to be so nearly ready to begin the new program.

half of the state but rainfall for the week averaged only 1/4 inch and occurred as spotty showers, the department said. Continued dry weather further reduced prospects in the east. Only the extreme southwest, extreme northeast and the Philadelphia area had more than 1/2 inch of rain during the week.

The week was very dry from Clearfield to Erie County and from Franklin to Lehigh and Montgomery Counties. The latter areas is especially in need of rain. Early corn in the southeast is tasseling at relatively short height. Elsewhere in the state, prospects for corn and potatoes continue good but in the southeast the size of potatoes already harvested is small. Moisture is needed badly in all eastern potato areas.

Second Hay Crop Short

Tobacco is making slow and irregular growth. Vegetable prospects in the important southeast area continue to decline. Harvest of early sweet corn for market is below normal volume, due to dry weather.

Over the state, condition of pastures continues below normal except in the southwest. A small acreage of second crop hay was cut during the week but tonnage was below normal.

Picking of early apples and peaches continues with the fruit in good condition and of high quality. Both apples and peaches need rain badly in the south and east.

Harvest of wheat, barley and rye is practically completed except in northern tier counties. Oats harvest has passed the half-way mark in the south.

Temperatures the past week averaged two degrees below normal. Rain averaged .25 inch compared with the normal of .94 inch for the week.

Condition of growing crops continues good in most of the western

TO BE UNDERSTOOD

I think we waste a great deal of time and valuable resources by complaining about being misunderstood by others. Well, the world didn't understand Socrates, Jesus, Pasteur, Lincoln, and many another whose name is an inspiration to the world. Emerson, whom many of us didn't regard as outstanding among the thinkers of the world, had this to say: "To be great is to be misunderstood." He didn't mean, however, that everyone who might claim to be misunderstood could also claim to be great!Some of our greatest men and women were misunderstood by most of those about them, but when all the fog had been burned away by the heat of the sun (a looking into the soul) then the beauty and greatness began to show up in all its honesty. Hardly had the assassin's bullet entered the body of Abraham Lincoln than Secretary Stanton exclaimed:
"Now he belongs to the ages!"
The misunderstanding days were over.I don't see why we should complain so much about other people misunderstanding us when we don't even understand ourselves!
I can look back to the days when I thought people didn't understand me, and when I recall some of the experiences of those days I can only think what a fool I was,
and how much I had to learn—and now in my later years I keep realizing how really little I know.
What a big world. What a lot of knowledge it contains. So much untold beauty, undiscovered, and mysteries to challenge the most learned. Why should we worry about being misunderstood?If we do kind things, hold no bitterness in our heart, keep a cheerful front, and proudly praise others for the good that is in them, it won't matter whether we are understood or not. We will be welcomed everywhere other human beings gather!Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Thanks And Dollars".Protected, 1954, George Matthew

THE CHANCE

We often hear it said: "Too bad!
No chance in life that youngster had."His only playground was the street.
That boy was destined for defeat."Yet, hearing that, God might reply:
"You were one chance that passed him by."Had you stretched out your hand to him.His life might not have been so grim.
It might have helped him had he heardFrom a you friendly, cheerful word.
Had you for him but shown the way, that boy might not have gone astray."If every youngster could depend
On one good man to be his friend,
His willing counselor and guide,
And something of his needs provide,
In every trying circumstance
Throughout his life he'd have a chance.Were we to set youth's pathway straight,

Our pity would not come too late.

But if as men we pass them by
And to assist them never tryThen we will be (and "that's too bad")The chance some poor boy could have had.

MIXED REACTION
TO TARIFF BOOST
BY EISENHOWERWASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower has raised the tariff on many watches manufactured abroad but a spokesman for U.S. watchmakers says most Americans will still buy Swiss imports.The President's decision nonetheless was received with pleasure by the domestic industry and criticized from other quarters.Swiss Minister Charles Brug-mann said it dealt a "serious blow" to his country's relations with the United States. He said the step hadn't been anticipated from a friendly government.

First Tariff Boost

Eisenhower announced the first major tariff boost of his administration late yesterday. Effective today except on shipments already in transit and cleared through customs by Aug. 26, it hikes the duty as much as 50 per cent on watches with no jewels or, no more than 17 jewels.The effect will be to raise imported watch prices $3.50 to $5.The Federal Tariff Commission had recommended the increase. It said heavy imports were hurting the American industry.

Vic Wertz Leads Indians To Win As Yanks Bow To Chisox; Brooks Keep Coming; Trail By 2

By JOE REICHLER

AP Sports Writer
Hank Greenberg, whose player deals during the past few years have backfired more often than a 1929 jalopy, finally appears to have found a live one in Vic Wertz. Each day, the slugging outfielder-first baseman looms larger and larger in the Cleveland Indians' pennant plans.

Last night, for instance, he slammed a home run and double and drove in three runs as the Indians whipped Boston 6-3 for their 14th victory over the Red Sox in 15 decisions.

The Tribe now leads the New York Yankees by 2½ games. The Yanks were shut out by Chicago's Virgil Trucks 4-0.

Giants Lead By Two

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals thrashed the New York Giants 7-4 after Brooklyn's onrushing Dodgers had won a 7-6 slugging bee from the Chicago Cubs. The Giants' onetime seven-game bulge over Brooklyn has dwindled to a mere two in six days.

In other games, the Philadelphia Phillies whipped the Cincinnati Reds 8-2, Baltimore defeated Washington 7-5 and Philadelphia's Athletics beat Detroit 8-3 after the Tigers had won the opener of the twin-night twin bill 3-2. Milwaukee and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

It was a lucky break for the Indians when they acquired Wertz from Baltimore for pitcher Bob Chakales at the start of last month. The bald-headed outfielder, hitting an anemic .202 for the Orioles, didn't figure to be of much help. But since joining the Tribe, the 29-year-old Detroiter has been hitting at a .306 clip.

12th For Lemon

With Al Rosen adding a homer for Cleveland, Bob Lemon had an easy time registering his 12th triumph although he yielded 10 hits. Ted Williams failed to hit safely, ending his 14-game hitting streak.

Trucks, the strong-armed Chicago right-hander, handcuffed the Yankees with five hits. It was his fourth shutout and 14th victory of the season. Harry Byrd was tagged for eight hits, two each by Phil Cavarretta and Jim Rivera.

The Dodgers, powered by home runs by like Snider and Jackie Robinson, gave Don Newcombe an early 6-0 lead but the big right-hander lost most of it and took a neat relief job by Billy Loes to pull the Dodgers through.

28th For Musial

Wally Moon and Stan Musial led a late St. Louis drive to bring the Cardinals up from a 2-0 deficit to an easy victory over the Giants. Moony smashed four hits. Musial cracked his 28th homer with two mates aboard.

Robin Roberts became the first 15-game winner in the majors as the Phils submerged the Reds. Del Ennis, Bobby Morgan and Danny Schell homered to give the ace right-hander an early 8-0 lead.

Sparked by Bill Hunter's triple and two singles, the Orioles snapped Washington's six-game winning streak with a 13-hit attack. Every Baltimore batter hit safely except pitcher Duane Pilette, who gained his ninth victory.

Bill Tuttle's ninth-inning single scored Red Wilson with the run that gave Steve Gromek his 12th victory as Detroit grabbed the opener from Philadelphia. The Athletics rapped Ned Garver for 12 of their 13 hits to give Marion Fraticano an easy victory in the nightcap.

Gettysburg's Little Leaguers Trip Littlestown 14-6; Meet Newville For Title Tonight

Gettysburg's Little League all-stars put on a fine exhibition as they defeated Littlestown 14-6 in an Area 1 playoff game Tuesday evening at Newville before approximately 600 fans, including a large delegation from here and Littlestown.

As a result of the victory the locals will meet Newville, winner over Mt. Holly Springs Monday, tonight at 6 o'clock at Newville for the area title.

In the Area 2 tournament at Chambersburg, Buchanan defeated the Chambersburg Nationals 7-1 Tuesday evening and tonight meet Caledonia-Quincy for the Area 2 title.

The area titlists will clash Friday evening at 6 o'clock at Newville for the district championship.

Get Fast Start

Gettysburg got off to a fast start against Littlestown by tallying six runs in the first frame. Ten local lads went to bat in the first frame with the big blow of the inning being a double by Hardy Nichols and singles by Gary Maitland and Jimmy Townsend.

Littlestown picked up a run in its turn at bat in the first frame. Dave Crouse singled but was out on a fielder's choice on Larry Unger's grounder. Eddie Knipple singled and Unger scored on Bob Nester's sacrifice fly.

Nester, Littlestown hurler, got into trouble in the second inning as Gettysburg's Ron Stokes took first on an infield error and Bobby Furney, with no balls and two strikes against him, blasted the next pitch over the left field fence, 175 feet away, for a home run.

After another run came across on an infield error and Jim Townsend's double to deep center, Little Richie Bankert came in to take over on the mound for Littlestown and put out the fire.

Littlestown picked up a run in the second on a single by Gary Worley and two infield miscues, and added a pair of tallies in the third on Larry Weikert's double to left and a three-two pitch that Rich Bankert sent sailing over the right field fence for the second home run of the game. Worley's double, a single by Dean Reynolds and an infield miscue enabled Littlestown to add another run.

Gettysburg tallied in the third on two costly errors. They dusted the plate with three more runs in the fourth on consecutive walks to Townsend, Nichols, McCartney, and Rich Weikert. Two errors on a fielder's choice allowed the last two runs of the inning to cross. Managers Francis and Doug Knox's lads scored their last run in the fifth on a single by Gary Maitland and Hardy Nichols' second double of the evening.

Pinchhitter Homers

In the bottom of the sixth Littlestown substituted pinch-hitters freely with one coming through with a hit. Bernie Stuller, batting for Bob Benner, blasted the first delivery by Maitland over the right field fence for the longest home run of the game. Each home run hitter was awarded the ball which he hit out of the park.

Gary Maitland, Jim Townsend, and Hardy Nichols paced the winners at the plate by collecting a pair of hits each and driving in four runs among them. Rich Bankert and Gary Worley led the losers with the same number of safeties. Littlestown Outhit Gettysburg 10-7.

Gary Maitland gave up 10 hits, struck out five and allowed only two walks to win the decision. Bob Nester pitched a five hitter, striking out two and walking three and takes the loss while reliever Rich Bankert gave up only two hits, struck out six and walked three.

SAYS PHYSICAL AND EMOTIONAL STRESSES MAY CAUSE CANCER

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — The physical—and perhaps emotional—stresses in a woman's life were suggested today as a possible cause of cancer of the cervix, one of the greatest killers among the disease's many forms.

The theory was advanced to the sixth International Cancer Congress by Dr. Ernest Ayre of the Cancer Institute at Miami, Fla.

The cervix is the neck or lower part of the uterus or womb. It is one of the most common sites of cancer among women.

Chain Irritation

Dr. Ayre gave this explanation of his concept, which he said involved a kind of chain-reaction irritation of the cells forming the tip of the cervix:

It may begin with an inflammation in the uterus continuing for a long time. The inflammation causes the release of mucus which has been found to contain the female sex hormone.

The cervix normally is exposed to this hormone at only certain times each month. But continuous exposure could well be an additional irritant to the cervical cells. The mucous secretion also is possibly alkaline enough to affect some cells.

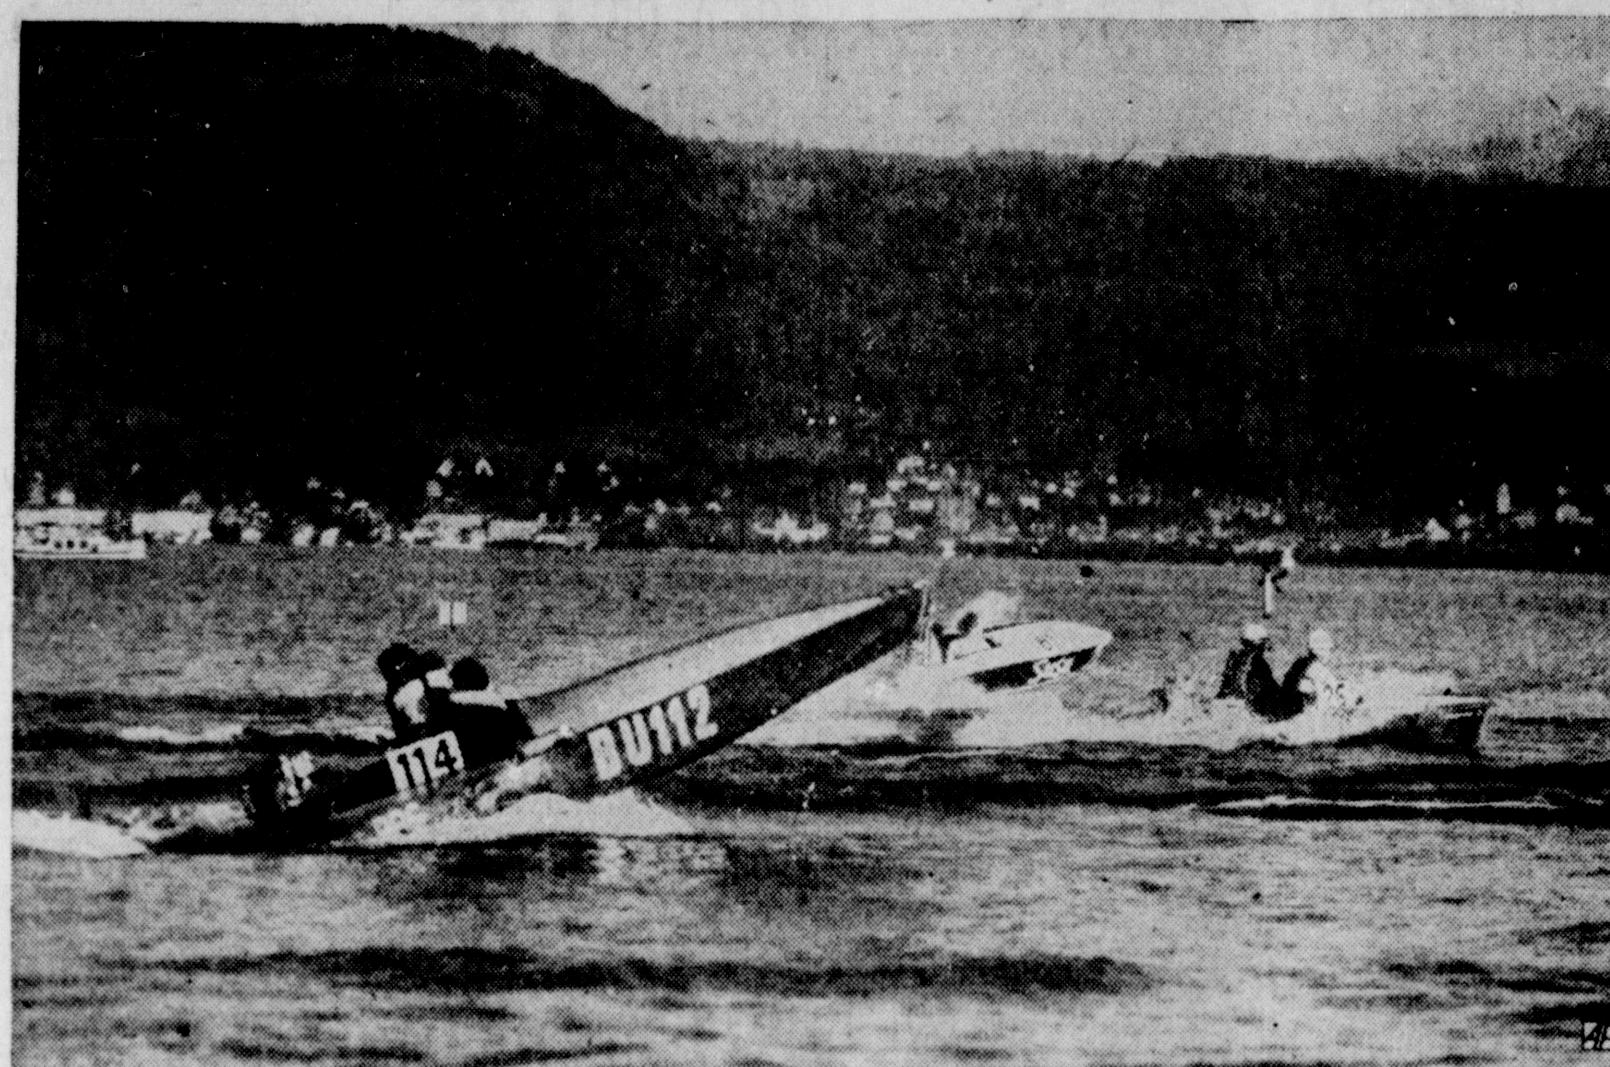

Most Practical Preventive

Ayre said the process could cause scar tissue to form at the critical site. Such tissue would deprive some cells of nutrients necessary for health and force them to live at a disadvantage, which perhaps would be enough to turn them cancerous.

The specialist said emotions can affect the glandular and nervous system, and emotional stress could also affect adversely the cervical cells.

The great possibility of cancer prevention lies in learning how cancer begins and interrupting the process, Ayre said. He told the congress the most practical preventive is the regular examination of cells which always are being cast off from the cervix. In such examinations, experts can watch for signs of changes which indicate the cells are cancerous.

MORE GUARDS BOTSTER STAFF IN WALLA WALLA

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (UPI) — An uneasy quiet settled over the State Penitentiary early today and the state patrol sent additional men here to reinforce guards watching for any outbreak of violence among some 1,500 hunger-striking prisoners.

The silence was broken by occasional warwhoops from "toughies" in the segregation wing, but Warden John Cranor said a near-midnight check showed most of the inmates, who were locked in their cells after they had passed up the evening meal, were retired for the night.

Guards concentrated their watch on the segregation wing, housing the prison's most hardened criminals.

Idle Ones Are Beefing

"If there is any trouble, it will be here," said Lawrence Delmore Jr., former Alcatraz prison official who will replace Cranor when Cranor retires Sept. 1.

The hunger and sitdown strike described by Cranor as a "passive resistance" move caused chiefly by idleness, started in the prison laundry Monday. By noon yesterday it had spread to virtually all the men within the prison walls. Cranor said the minimum security prison outside the walls and the women's section were not affected.

"Only 62 per cent of the inmates are employed and those idle are doing a lot of beefing," Cranor said.

Swallowed Needle In '78; Found In Foot

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — A physician removed an inch-long needle yesterday from the right foot of Guy J. Gilbert, 83.

Gilbert recalled he accidentally swallowed the needle 76 years ago in Angola, Ind. About six months ago he began feeling a dull ache in the foot.

The United States has ski resorts in 29 states.

SPokane's Gold Rush Ends Fast

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Glenn Aiken, working a bulldozer in a residential district yesterday, attracted the usual number of youngsters who pestered, "what're ya doin', mister?"

"Digging for gold," Aiken advised.

The kids told their mothers who told other mothers. The story soon left the neighborhood and moved downtown. The Better Business Bureau, stockbrokers and city officials started getting calls.

The report was that gold had been found, that stock was for sale. Property owners were to get a fifth interest.

City Hall quickly dispatched an emissary to the scene.

"Gold?" gasped Aiken. "That was a joke for the kids. I'm helping put in a lawn."

King Henry I of England established the length of the yard as the distance from the end of his nose to the tip of his thumb.

Comics Offer Japs Cut Rate Propaganda

TOKYO (UPI) — The Communists are offering magazines and books at less than cost to put across their way of life in a country where family budgets allow little reading matter.

American weekly news magazines printed in Japan give publishers a slight profit at 70 yen a copy. Monthly pocket size magazines sell for 100 yen. But well printed magazines from Red China and Russia sell for as little as 20 yen.

Russian and Red Chinese publications cost news dealers nothing. Even so, few news dealers handle red publications.

Marathon Debate In Senate Ends With Bill's Final Okay

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON — Controversy over the bill designed to carry out President Eisenhower's atomic program shifted today behind closed doors after a marathon debate in the Senate finally ended last night with 57-38 passage.

A Senate-House conference committee now must adjust basic differences in separate versions of a big bill to open the atomic power field to private industry and to authorize the release of limited nuclear information to U.S. allies.

Senate passage came at 9:17 p.m. last night at the end of 13 days and nearly 160 hours of acrimonious debate. The bill was supported by 44 Republicans and 13 Democrats and opposed by 2 Republicans, 25 Democrats and independent Sen. Morse of Oregon.

The battle left open scars in the Senate over the bill's power provisions and the tactics used by Republican Leader Knowland of California to break what he termed an opposition filibuster.

Whether these resentments would lead to stiffer opposition to other key administration measures, including the foreign aid, housing and tax revision bill, remained to be seen. GOP leaders are driving for adjournment by Aug. 7.

Bars AEC From Business

The Senate adopted amendments to the atomic energy bill, a revision of the 1946 basic act, to authorize the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) and other federal agencies to build atomic power plants. It also postpones any exclusive nuclear patents for 10 years.

The House bill, passed Monday, grants normal patent rights for civilian atomic developments not conceived under government auspices and bars the AEC from the A-power business.

These differences must be hammered out behind closed doors.

Opposition senators have threatened another talkfest if their version is jettisoned.

The House, under strong leadership control, appeared equally insistent upon its measure.

Senate opponents gave up the fight suddenly last night after two weeks of denouncing the bill as a gigantic giveaway—a view dismissed by GOP leaders.

The final session of debate, starting Monday, lasted just short of 36 hours.

Sharp Criticism

The back of the opposition appeared broken Saturday night when Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas joined in an effort to limit debate. He failed, as Knowland did in repeated attempts.

Knowland also lost Monday in a move to invoke cloture or an automatic time limit.

The majority leader took sharp criticism during a two-hour debate yesterday on his parliamentary tactics, but after that the air cleared and the Senate moved steadily toward the final vote.

COLUMBUS, Ohio — It cost the state 36 cents yesterday to collect 1 cent in sales tax revenue. Furniture dealer John Glancy of Goshen in southern Ohio sent a check for a penny by registered mail. State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy had to pay 36 cents postage due.

FAIRLESS SEES BETTER FUTURE FOR U.S. STEEL

NEW YORK — Benjamin F. Fairless, board chairman of United States Steel Corp., believes his own company and the steel industry will operate at between 70 and 75 per cent of capacity for the rest of the year.

The outlook for the nation's economy is "good, for peacetime," says Fairless.

So far as immediate prospects for U.S. Steel are concerned, Fairless says:

"I look for a pickup, so far as operations are concerned, in late August and early September."

His company, greatest steel producer in the world, reported yesterday that its second quarter net income was more than four million dollars higher than net income for the first quarter.

The second quarter figures were $49,020,738 or $1.63 a share compared with the first quarter's $44,830,376 or $1.48 a share.

In booming 1953 the second quarter was $55,640,806 or $1.89 a share.

The first six months of 1954 showed Big Steel with a net income of $93,851,114, or $3.11 a share compared with $105,016,764 or $3.54 a share for the first half of 1953.

Declare Dividend

U.S. Steel declared its usual quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on common stock payable Sept. 10 to holders of record Aug. 6.

The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on preferred is payable Aug. 20 to holders of record Aug. 3.

During the present summer slump, the corporation is operating at 65 per cent, down from 75 per cent a month ago. In the second quarter the average operating rate was 70.7 per cent as against 80.8 per cent in the first quarter. Fairless said the average operating rate for the first six months was 75.2 per cent.

During the first half of 1953, Fairless said, 35 million dollars went for the excess profits tax, but even if the tax were in effect this year the earnings record of the corporation would not have put it into the excess profits bracket.

Has Big Backlog

He explained a slightly better percentage return on sales as being due to "a different tax picture

CAR, TRUCK COLLIDE

An automobile operated by Fredrick Block, 48, Abbottstown R. 1, and a truck driven by George R. Doubt Jr., Coatesville, collided in York Tuesday morning. No one was injured and damage to the machines was slight.

And higher efficiency."

U.S. Steel's order backlog is now four million tons, Fairless said, or about half of what it was a year ago. The backlog is down about a million tons from the past April, he said.

"Steel products generally are in plentiful supply," he said.

Freight absorption is continuing in the same manner, said Fairless, and there were "no serious complaints" about the $3 a ton price boost which followed the 9-to-12-cent-an-hour "package" increase for the CIO United Steelworkers last month.

The board yesterday, said Fairless, put its final legal seal of approval on the 300 million dollar debenture issue which is about to be offered.

URNS TO ALL GOP FOR VOTES

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, Republican candidate for governor, says he will appeal to both sides of warring factions of the Republican party here to support the GOP ticket.

Wood added yesterday, "I can't expect the Democrats to elect me. I must rely on the Republicans."

He also said he will not try to force the two feuding factions to make-up. Wood told a newsman:

"I have taken the position that I

Shooting Ceases In Indochina After 7 Years, 7 Months War

By FORREST EDWARDS
HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French and the Vietminh ordered firing stopped in part of Indochina Tuesday—7 years, 7 months and 8 days after Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's rebel legions attacked Hanoi.

The truce negotiated at the Geneva conference became effective in North Viet Nam and its rich Red River delta at 8 a.m. (8 p.m., EST, Monday).

The armistice is scheduled to spread gradually over the four other sectors of the war-ravaged Southeast Asia land, becoming effective on Aug. 1 in Central Viet Nam, Aug. 6 in Laos, Aug. 7 in Cambodia and Aug. 11 in South Viet Nam.

Hanoi's big guns roared sporadically throughout the night before the cease-fire became effective and the Vietminh kept up pressure on outlying posts manned by Vietnamese units. In recent days the Reds have concentrated on such posts in an apparent effort to encourage desertions and prevent the native troops from moving south with the departing French.

Will Supervise Elections

There were no early reports, however, of any large-scale fights in the last hours before the truce time.

The cease-fire agreement provides for internationally supervised elections in July 1956 to unify Viet Nam. The French commander in the North, Gen. Rene Cogny, said recently he believed South Viet Nam could be defended militarily against the Reds, but he only shrugged when asked about the political prospects. Many French civilian officials here share Cogny's doubts of the future.

With the cease-fire, Cogny turned his effort to the mammoth task of moving his thousands of French and Vietnamese troops from their shrunken sector of the northern delta to the southern holding left to the Viet Nam government headed by ex-Emperor Bao Dai.

Evacuate Territory

The Vietminh were expected to take control rapidly of the territory being evacuated.

The first phases of the military withdrawal began with the armistice hour. Companies began falling back to their battalion headquarters areas in preparation for a progressive withdrawal to the port of Haiphong.

By Aug. 11 Cogny must have soldiers and civilians being evacuated from north, west and south of Hanoi massed in a 10-mile zone around the North Indochina capital, once the official seat of French power in the Far East.

They must be out of the Hanoi area within 80 days from Tuesday. The marchers to the sea must be past Hal Duong, midway on the route, 20 days after that. The evacuees have 300 days from today to quit their Haiphong beachhead, destined to be the last French foot hold in North Viet Nam.

Native Soldiers Leave

Not all the Vietnamese troops will be moving south. The French admitted Tuesday that a number of the native soldiers were pulling out of their posts and disappearing, presumably returning to their homes in hopes the Vietminh would forgive and forget.

French officials also pushed plans to move hundreds of thousands of French and Vietnamese civilians southward, as many as want to get away. They planned to begin a combined sea and air lift today and predicted it would be taking 5,000 persons daily away from Hanoi and Haiphong by mid-August.

The cease-fire will be supervised by a commission made up of India, Poland and Canada, with India as chairman. An official of the Indian Foreign Ministry announced in New Delhi today that his government has invited the other two commission members as well as France, Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and the Vietminh to meet in Indian capital to discuss arrangements for the group.

Orrtanna

ORRTANNA — A large and appreciative audience attended the special program presented by the Clavollines at the Mt. Carmel EUB Church Sunday evening. The group included the following: Charles Ditzler, clavoline; Dale Starry, trumpet; drums and violin; William Howe, banjo; Charles Tressler, saxophone, and Wayne Walters, guitar.

The program included: "What A Friend We Have In Jesus," by the congregation, accompanied by the orchestra; "Let's Go To Church On Sunday Morning," orchestra; vocal quartet "Let The Lower Lights Be Burning," Dale Starry, Charles Tressler, William Howe and Charles Ditzler; scripture and prayer by the pastor, the Rev. Roger Burtner; "Whispering Hope," orchestra; vocal quartet, "The Old Rugged Cross," Starry, Ditzler, Howe and Walters; "Some Sunday Morning," orchestra, offertory and doxology; "Must Jesus Bear The Cross Alone?" orchestra; "Life's Railway To Heaven," and "The Church In The Wildwood," orchestra; closing hymn, "In The Garden" by congregation accompanied by orchestra; benediction by the pastor.

An offering of $44.11 was lifted to be used toward debt on the parsonage.

102 YEARS OLD

NORTH APOLLO, Pa. (AP)—Fred Held has no special advice for those seeking a long life. He was 102 Tuesday and the family had a quiet dinner to observe the occasion.

Asked about those old bugaboo, liquor and tobacco, Fred said he always smoked, still likes a pipe after each meal and at bedtime.

And he never signed a pledge not to drink, either. Matter of fact, he enjoyed a cool Stein of beer now and again on the farm he used to operate—and on special occasions, he said, he'd tap a jug of the hard stuff.

The Cincinnati Redlegs led the National League in 1953 in executing the most double plays (176). The team also made the only triple play of the season.

THREE PILOTS REPORT BRUSH WITH JETS, MIGS

HONG KONG (P)—Three airline pilots reported encounters with jet fighters off Red-held Hainan Island today—two with U.S. planes and the other with unidentified jets.

A Pan American World Airways pilot reported he was "escorted" for a few minutes by four U.S. Navy jets. The airline office here said no request had been made for fighter escort for its planes.

The two other pilots asserted their transports had been buzzed by fighter planes.

Capt. Hornib Misty, pilot of an Air India plane which arrived here from Bangkok, reported his craft was buzzed by two United States jets about 80 miles off Hainan at 3:30 p.m.

And Capt. Jack R. Brugger of Paris, pilot of an Air France Constellation, said four unidentified jets buzzed his transport about 100 miles off Hainan.

Looked Like Migs

Brugger described the planes as "the shape and color" of Communist MIG jets.

The incidents occurred in the general area where a British airliner was shot down by Chinese Red fighters Friday with a possible loss of 10 lives, including three Americans.

Misty said he "saw two more U.S. jets about six miles away." He estimated his position as 100 miles north of Tournai on the Indochina coast. Misty described the planes as "of a black color."

Brugger said four unidentified jets followed his plane for four minutes and then swooped up on

Not U. S. Jets

The Air France transport, bound from Saigon to Tokyo with 20 persons aboard, landed safely at Hong Kong's Kai Tak Airfield at 1:19 p.m.

Brugger said the fighters were green in color but that he could see no markings. He said he was "escorted" for a few minutes by four U.S. Navy jet fighters.

ALTOONA HAS 5-YEAR PLAN FOR 5,000 MORE JOBS

ALTOONA, Pa. (P)—This community used to lean heavily on the Pennsylvania Railroad shops for its employment. Now it is aiming at a new five-year plan to provide one million dollars and 5,000 more jobs.

In 1950, when the PRR indicated it no longer would provide full employment for the bulk of the Altoona employables, civic minded residents began an intensive drive for an industrial payroll insurance plan. It worked well. But, in the meantime, the railroad layoffs and furloughs grew.

Now, Altoona residents are embarked on a program to renew the insurance plan. Although the new drive for funds does not begin officially until Aug. 2, the advance gifts committee has received $240,000.

Every Altoona resident will be asked to contribute, says William Ward, general chairman. He adds: "This drive is to insure the future of Altoona. 'Jobs for Joes' is the slogan and we're going to try to make 5,000 jobs."

The first five-year plan was the brain child of M. A. Miller, a retired official of the Pennsylvania Electric Co. and a vice president of the Altoona Chamber of Commerce.

Miller's proposal called for outright contributions by business firms and others to a common fund. The plan brought in $390,000 and the money has been used to help bring in industry.

Miller claims Altoona Enterprises, Inc., which was set up to disburse the funds, has added an annual payroll of nearly five million dollars while providing employment for about 1,215 persons.

The organization claims it has

SHIRT PIERCED BY A BULLET

PERCE, Que. (P)—A medical legal expert testified Monday night that a sweatshirt and two other shirts identified as belonging to 17-year-old Richard Lindsey of Hollidaysburg, Pa., had been pierced by a bullet.

The testimony was given by Dr. Jean Marie Roussel of Montreal, who testified in the murder trial of Wilbert Coffin Coffin, a Gaspe Peninsula prospector, is charged with killing young Lindsey while the youth was on a hunting trip in the Gaspe bush last June with his father, Eugene, and 20-year-old Albert Clair.

The skeleton of all three Americans, gnawed by bears, were found in the bush last July, a month after they disappeared.

Roussel said laboratory analysis of the three garments described as young Lindsey's revealed the presence of lead around the holes in the three garments... and death by a bullet, was nearly instantaneous.

He said he believed the victim was killed with a rifle and that the bullet pierced his upper left lung and heart.

Roussel presented as evidence pictures of the three skeletons. He said remains of two of the men were given to him in two boxes on July 25 and that they were later identified as those of Richard Lindsey and Clair.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lott and Miss Ruth Cook, Dillsburg; Mrs. Celia C. Smedley, Quarryville visited Mr. and Mrs. Hillary R. Kennedy, Saturday. Other recent guests of the Kennedys were Mrs. Harry E. Plan New 93-Acre Business Center

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (P)—Plans for a 93-acre regional business center at nearby King of Prussia at the intersection of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, the Schuylkill Expressway and two other major highways were disclosed yesterday.

The center, serving the Greater Main Line-Norristown area with an estimated one million population would include wholesale distribution, transportation and servicing headquarters and office and recreational facilities in addition to a shopping center. It would be built in five stages.

Charles D. Wilson, owner of the site, said that American Stores Co. has completed negotiations for the first part of the construction.

William Park, president of the grocery chain, said his company has purchased 10 acres of the approximately 40 acres planned for development as a shopping center. He said start of construction depends upon rezoning proceedings.

If Cow Pastures Become Short During Summer Months, Zettle Suggests Supplemental Feed

By Frank S. Zettle

Adam County Farm Agent
During July and August many Adam County pastures become short because of dry weather. If milk production is to be maintained and cows are to go into the fall months with good condition of flesh pastures will have to be supplemented with extra feed.

Here are several suggestions that county dairymen may follow.

1. Many dairymen have silage left over from the winter feeding. Feed this to supplement the pasture.

2. Dairymen who put up grass silage have an excellent feed to use during the hot summer months. The silage used may be replaced during the fall months.

3. Dry hay is always an excellent feed to supplement pasture. Or a combination of dry hay and silage may be used to good advantage.

4. Grain usually is necessary when pasture is short. The protein need not be over 16 per cent. The amount fed daily will depend on the other feeds available, milk production, and the condition of the cows.

Egg Production
Fall and winter production are important. This is usually the period of higher milk prices, and increased milk output at this time also helps to level-off year round production.

Late summer eggs are among the year's higher priced eggs. As the supply of large eggs becomes less in late summer they command a much greater spread in price over smaller eggs than happens during the spring flush of production.

Fowls nearing the close of their laying year are still laying large eggs. Regular culling reduces flock size. Poorer producers are sent to market as poultry meat. Good management helps those better layers keep up their high rate of profitable production.

Good housing, ample ventilation over the floor and about the roosting nests at night assures comfort. Battling lice and mites helps the hens convert feed into eggs and meat rather than supporting the parasites.

Watch Body Weight

Watching Feed—consumption and body weight helps the poultryman keep those good layers in health and condition for their important job. Ample feeder space, feeders that the hens find it easy to eat out of promote greater feed consumption.

Pellets or wet mash and often both are used to stimulate the fowls appetite and increase total daily feed intake. They are usually fed at noon after the heavy lay of the day is over and when more fowls can get at the feeders. Often one form of feed is supplied in the morning and the other in the afternoon or when convenient to the poultryman.

Artificial lights stimulate the egg producing organs to greater activity. Usually late summer slumps are averted or lessened by turning on the electric lights about August 15. Operating the lights so the equivalent of 12 hours of daylight is provided is usually ample.

Corn Club Deadline

Monday, August 2, is the last day for farmers to enroll in the 1954 (5 acre) Pennsylvania Corn Club. The club is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Crop Improvement Association with the Agricultural Extension Service Cooperating. The objective is to stimulate interest in better corn-growing practices.

Fields entered must contain not less than 5 acres of one hybrid or variety at one location on the farm.

A number of farmers have indicated they will enter the seventh annual competition.

Appropriate recognition will be given to all who qualify by the Crop Improvement Association at the Pennsylvania Farm Show next January at Harrisburg. Last year nine Adams County farmers entered the corn club. Enrollment blanks are available at the Extension office now.

Beans Need Sidedressing

Fordhook variety of lima beans requires more nitrogen than other varieties to mature a heavy crop. A sidedressing of 200 to 300 pounds of nitrate of soda, 160 pounds of sulphate of ammonia, or 100 to 125

SENATOR IS "DISMAYED" AT G.O.P. CRITICS

WASHINGTON, Pa.—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said Tuesday he uses "almost an ideal set of rules" to run his investigations, and he voiced "dismay" at the attitude of some of his Republican senatorial critics.

McCarthy's statements were in testimony prepared for a hearing before a Senate Rules subcommittee studying a variety of proposals for revision of the rules for Senate investigations. No action is foreseen this year.

The inquiry got a boost from—but is not based upon—the recent 36-day hearings into McCarthy's row with Army officials.

In a 3,500-word statement defending himself and the Senate Investigations subcommittee of which he is chairman, McCarthy said:

"I do not believe that any of the allegations aimed at me or at our committee, calculated to prove that we are in effect demanding equal time in (Sic) the White House, is grounded in reason."

McCarthy's critics have contended some of the senator's actions have infringed the functions of the executive department.

McCarthy continued:

Called "Nuisance"

"On the other hand, I do believe that Washington is crowded with men and women who look upon Congress as a constitutional nuisance."

"I do believe that the exercise of those (investigative) powers that are inherent in Congress is a plague to those who have a vested interest in concealing their impropriate activities."

McCarthy told the Rules subcommittee headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) that he is proud of opposition Republican senators raised against former President Truman's executive order in 1948 denying congressional investigating groups access to loyalty-security information from the executive agencies without White House approval.

"And it is with dismay," he said, "that I see so many of the same men now disposed to concede to the executive the permanent right to withhold such vital information from congressional committees—in fact, to interpret any demand against what they used to call the censorship code as a frontal attack on the executive branch of the government."

PUSH MOVE TO REOPEN PANTHER VALLEY MINES

COALDALE, Pa.—A Panther Valley citizens committee sought a meeting Tuesday with W. Julian Parton, president of the Lehigh Navigation Coal Co., in another effort at reopening the valley's anthracite mines.

The committee composed of 100 valley citizens, appointed a subcommittee on Monday to meet with Parton but did not make clear what it intended to ask of him.

Parton could not be reached immediately for comment.

Lehigh Navigation is in the process of being dissolved under order from its parent firm, Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co.

The committee was initiated by James Gildea, Coaldale publisher, who said he is seeking the ouster of C. M. Dodson, LC and N president, through a proxy battle.

Can Run At Profit

At Monday night's meeting the full committee of 100 also voted approval of sending letters to all company stockholders, stating the committee's position that the mines formerly operated by LNC could be reopened and run at a profit.

It was indicated, however, that the committee did not possess a list of LC and N stockholders.

The valley mines were shut down at the end of June, idling 5,000 miners. They had been closed since early May because of what the company termed heavy losses. It offered a plan to reopen the mines in June. All United Mine Workers union locals, with the exception of the one at Tamaqua, accepted the

Plead Guilty To Larceny, Burglary

CARLISLE, Pa.—Two men pleaded guilty on Monday to charges of larceny and burglary after police said they admitted entering several buildings in Cumberland County and taking numerous articles.

George Edward Barclay, 21, identified by police as an AWOL soldier from Ft. Knox, Ky., and Clair Lee Penner, 28, of Newville R.D. 1, entered their pleas before Justice of the Peace Robert E. Blair, New Kingston.

Blair said the pair is being held in Cumberland County jail pending court action.

plan which called for increased production per worker.

The Tamaqua local picketed the other mines and their lines were respected by the other valley locals—the mines remaining closed. LNC then announced permanent closing of its operations.

In his rookie year for the Cardinals in 1953, Ray Jablonski played in all his team's 157 games.

FINE SAYS GSA WILL RUSH TWO STATE PROJECTS

HARRISBURG (P)—Gov. John S. Fine says the General State Authority will not "drag its feet" on the construction of two important commonwealth building projects.

Fine said after a closed conference with board members on Monday that the members of the GSA board had agreed to proceed "as speedily as we can" on construction of the proposed structures.

The projects are a proposed $8 million dollar state office building in Philadelphia and an 18 million dollar mental hospital to be built in Delaware County.

Prior to the meeting, Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland), a member of the board, said the board was divided into two camps—one favoring pushing new projects and another favoring finishing current projects before selecting architects for the new ones.

"Harmonious" Meeting

Dent agreed with Fine's description of the two-hour meeting as "harmonious," because, Dent said, the matter of signing architects was not brought up.

The board, headed by Fine, said the GSA technical staff was authorized to proceed with negotiations for purchase of a site at Broad and Spring Garden streets for construction of the Philadelphia state office building.

Warren H. Holmes, chief GSA counsel, said there was no discussion of a site for the new mental hospital in Delaware County. A court decision is being awaited on a suit by residents of the county who wish to prevent erection of the building in their area.

John A. Schell, Bloomsburg, and Edmund G. Good Jr., Harrisburg, were selected respectively as architects for new dining hall and kitchen projects at Bloomsburg and Shippensburg state teachers

Both projects are to cost in the neighborhood of $375,000 each.

POLICE CHIEFS ASK JUVENILE CODE REVISION

PHILADELPHIA (P)—The Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Assn. urged revision of the state's juvenile code in opening sessions of its 41st annual convention keynoted by criticism of "juvenile crime coding" and "parent pampering."

The chairman of PCPA's executive committee, Frank A. Sweeney, police chief of nearby Jenkintown, recommended on Monday that newspapers drop the policy of withholding names of juvenile offenders and said the printed names could be a deterrent to delinquency.

Sweeney also proposed the lowering of the juvenile age from 18 to 16.

Chief John M. Watahovich of Freeland, president of the association, said he would appoint a committee to review proposed amendments to the juvenile act for presentation to the State Legislature next year.

Unsatisfactory Methods

In urging revision of the code, Sweeney said, "criminal statistics, by their continual rise, indicate that our present methods of dealing with juvenile delinquents are at the best unsatisfactory."

Backing up Sweeney's proposals, Samuel Siegle, executive director of PCPA and former police superintendent in Havertown Twp., said, "It has been found that when the names of the children responsible for lawless acts are published in the newspapers there is a sudden decrease in criminal statistics."

"When papa and mama are faced with the embarrassment of explaining to their friends and business associates just why junior is engaged in breaking into houses, stealing cars or beating helpless individual, you will see a considerable drop in those activities."

HARRISBURG (P)—The establishment of a state park in or near Harrisburg has the backing of Samuel S. Lewis, state forests and

Lewis told a television audience over station WTPA last night that "if land could be obtained and operating funds made available, I

On the same program he denied reports that he is blocking estab-

Sweet Sixty: Be Sleek And Very Soignee

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
The Associated Press

In case you're worrying about aging gracefully, the current issue of a popular fashion magazine can provide you with the most specific road-map to later life you can imagine.

It seems that there's a real way of life for "any woman verging on 60" who wants to be attractive." It involves such niceties and fine points as moving in a cloud of perfume, maintain a flower fragrance in the living room, having the linen closet smell "crisp and delicious," wearing close-fingered gloves, carrying a fan in summer and showing a preference for face veils.

A few other requisites for the good later life, according to the magazine, include playing good bridge, keeping the back hair neat, paying bills promptly and giving small and lively dinner parties.

The perfect woman of an uncertain age should possess good walking shoes but otherwise wear close-toed opera pumps, avoid the sun and keep her upper arms covered at any cost, be an attentive listener with a deep respect for the intelligence of American businessmen.

She should possess a "timeless wit," but carefully avoid being typed or dated and never indulge in sarcasm. She also should have a new coiffure sometime within the 10 years before she hits that fatal birthday. Everybody from old beau to people she has met all over the world should look her up and she should constantly enlarge her circle by inviting new acquaintances to luncheons or cups of tea. She wears careful makeup and carries her rouge high, and is careful about lipstick because she knows a tidy mouth is as helpful as "a well-boned nose." The magazine would prefer her hair to be gray, but if she dyes it, the editors don't want to be aware of it.

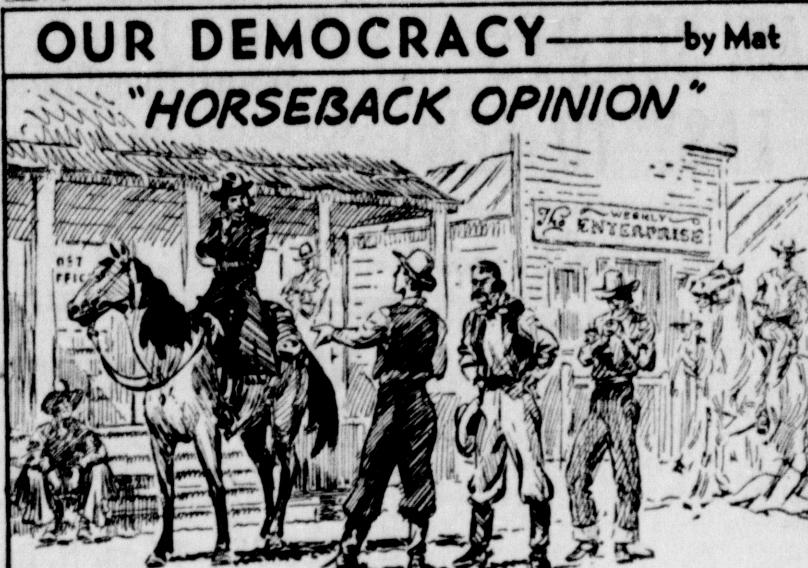

Have Pearl Necklace

Her favorite accessory is the three-strand pearl necklace and she wears her jewelry with such an air that nobody can tell whether it's the McCoy or junk. And the magazine was only vague on two points.

A few other requisites for the good later life, according to the magazine, include playing good bridge, keeping the back hair neat, paying bills promptly and giving small and lively dinner parties.

FROM THE EARLY DAYS, WHEN JUDGES RODE AROUND THEIR CIRCUITS ON HORSEBACK AND SOMETIMES DELIVERED THEMSELVES OF RULINGS WITHOUT DISMOUNTING, WE DERIVED THE FIGURE OF SPEECH "HORSEBACK OPINION". IT MEANS A QUICK, NOT FULLY CONSIDERED OPINION, USUALLY GIVEN WHEN AN IMMEDIATE RESPONSE IS WANTED—AND THAT'S ITS JUSTIFICATION.

WHEN IT COMES TO VOTING, HOWEVER, IT IS OUR DUTY AND OUR PRIVILEGE AS CITIZENS TO OBTAIN AND WEIGH ALL THE FACTS WE CAN ABOUT THE ISSUES AND THE CANDIDATES, AND THEN, IN NOVEMBER, TO VOTE OUR CONSIDERED OPINION AT THE POLLS.

points—important ones, too, for they were means of acquiring that timeless wit and the regal air for getting away with costume jewelry.

Instead of being encouraged by this airy attitude toward the aging process, it has discouraged me completely. Right now I wish I hadn't innocently decided to check up on fall hair styles as decreed by my favorite fashion magazine, a project which caused me to stumble on this composite portrait. (The gamine—or butch—crop will perish with the first frost to be replaced by a sweepback effect with a braided top, a decree which didn't help my spirits any, I can tell you.)

Having thought the whole thing over, I've decided to keep my circa 1932 hair-do, with its ragged

SCRIBE CLAIMS DINING OUT WITH 'MRS. ETIQUETTE'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
The Associated Press

It's a harrowing experience to eat luncheon publicly with an etiquette expert.

Not that Amy Vanderbilt, a friend from the days before she was a recognized and recognizable authority, nagged me about drinking out of my saucer or spooning my soup south instead of north. It was the other people, at the nearby tables.

The meal, featuring a magnificent cheese souffle, might just as well have been cardboard for the pleasure it gave me. I absorbed every forkful under the close scrutiny of the surrounding diners, who apparently were waiting eagerly to find out if Amy personally committed the blunders, and I must say the temptation to curl an elegant pinkie away from the cup, slurp liquids, talk with a full mouth and otherwise satisfy the audience, was almost irresistible.

Amy, however, is accustomed to this fierce scrutiny although she's not entirely reconciled to her responsibilities.

"I've noticed that when I go to a party where there are people I don't know well, things sort of get tense when I enter," she remarked, breaking off a bitesized portion of pop-over and buttering it deitily. "People seem to get self-conscious. So I make extra efforts to be easy and casual."

There are two really difficult problems involved in helping people to mind their manners, however.

Phone Querries

"People telephone me at all hours of the day or night with emergency questions," she lamented. "Long distance calls, too. And most of them are about weddings."

"Last night a woman called around midnight to ask me if it was all right to ignore, on her step-daughter's wedding invitation, the fact that she actually is not the girl's real mother. The mother, divorced and remarried, had been out of their lives for years. But she reasoned that you shouldn't kill a woman off even on an invitation."

Amy told the woman that the invitation should read: "Mr. and Mrs. John R. Smith request the honour of your presence at the marriage of HIS daughter, Louella"

Firm Negative

Etiquette problems posed by divorce are the subjects of most emergency queries. A plan she vetoed firmly the other day was that of a mother of twin girls who planned a double wedding at which she wanted to have their real father escort one twin down the aisle and their step-father take the other.

"A little too modern," was Amy's opinion. "Might shock people. I suggested she use a couple of uncles or old family friends instead."

All this comes under the heading of work. Amy objects mildly, however, when her family has to live up to her reputation.

"They even expect our dog to have impeccable manners," she complained.

Wins 26-Mile Swimming Race In Nine Hours, 21 Minutes

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (P)—Two Canadians fought it out Monday for the Atlantic City centennial world's professional long distance swimming championship with Tom Park winning the 26-mile test by 50 yards.

The 39-year-old father of two covered the course around Absecon Island in 9 hours 21 minutes 42 seconds, beating second place Cliff Lumsden of Canada and 35 other competitors.

The race had its surprises as a 16-year-old Canadian girl, the youngest entrant, finished seventh to beat the other five women and all but six men entered in the marathon.

First Woman To Finish

She was Marilyn Bell, a tiny attractive lass from New Toronto, who won $1.00 as the first woman to hit the finish rope.

Another surprise was Roland Aronovitz of Philadelphia. He never had swum more than a quarter mile before, but finished fourth.

Steve Wozniak of Buffalo, N.Y., was third and Herbert Simon of Belleville, fifth.

Park, who now lives in Lakewood, Calif., and hopes to become an American citizen, captured the $5,000 first place prize plus $550 in lap awards. Lumsden won the $1,500 second place prize and $150 in lap prizes.

Plans Channel Swim

The awards will be made at 1:30 p.m. today at the Steel Pier where the marathon began and finished.

Park, thirsty but hardly winded at the finish, said he plans to make an assault late next month on Florence Chadwick's record for crossing the Catalina Channel off California.

Twenty-two swimmers finished, the other 15 dropping out along the way. A mere 16 long distance champion Jerry Kerchner of Columbus, Ohio, was among the six who withdrew in the first half of the race.

The only American girl to cover the 26 miles was 17-year-old Natalie Werner of Baltimore. Standing 5-foot 10, she was bigger than some of the men entered and finished 20th, just ahead of Winnie Roach of Canada.

APPROVE BOND ISSUES

HARRISBURG (P)—The Department of Internal Affairs today approved these municipal bond issues:

Radnor Twp., $500,000, to build and equip Radnor-Haverford sewage disposal plant and construct sewers.

Bensalem Twp. school district, $220,000 to remodel buildings.

DAD, SON PJ'S EASY TO SEW

By The Associated Press

The sewing chore that will net you the most pride and applause is a set of matching pajamas for Dad and Junior, tailored to a man's taste.

Pajamas are surprisingly easy to make on your sewing machine, if you follow the detailed instructions on a standard pattern and employ the finishing tricks suggested by local sewing center experts.

Choose a handsome sturdy striped cotton, which holds up well on wash day and appeals to the male taste. After following pattern directions for cutting and sewing, use the cording foot of your machine to stitch the braid trim on collars, cuffs and pockets; your buttonhole attachment will turn out professional, sturdy buttonholes in no time.

It's a smart idea to make the boy's pajamas with wide hems on trousers and cuffs, to allow for growth. The drawstring waistline on the trousers allows for considerable expansion.

FUND FOR SLUM WORK

WASHINGTON (P)—The Housing and Home Finance Agency announced today it has set aside $41,700 for slum clearance in Morris- town, N.J.

Says Adlai Doesn't Want Presidency

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (P)—John F. Stevenson, the son of the Democrats' unsuccessful presidential candidate in 1952 replied. And then he added quickly:

Young Stevenson, here with his father on an Alaskan vacation, father would do if he became president.

"He doesn't want to be president," the son of the Democrats' unsuccessful presidential candidate in 1952 replied. And then he added quickly:

"He isn't campaigning. He is just helping the party pay off the deficit from the last campaign."

La Marr Miller, 15-year old boy, is the youngest ever to bowl a 300 game in American Bowling Congress sanctioned competition.

The oldest member of his team is 17. Their team average is 805.

PUBLIC RELATION PAY LOW, BUT "REWARDING:"

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—For some years I've been getting press releases from Pauline E. Mandigo in New York about conventions, conferences, and so on, in which women are involved in various parts of the country.

Sometimes I just toss these in the waste basket. Often I get a lead for a story. For Miss Mandigo works for people who often legitimately rate news coverage.

Degree For Work

Miss Mandigo, a big, rather handsome woman, got into public relations after World War I following some six years newspapering in New York state. She has done a lot of work for women's colleges—Barnard, Wellesley, Vassar and Skidmore from which last she won an honorary degree for her public relations work. She's also handled special information and counseling jobs for women's organizations like the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, and General Federation of Women's Clubs and the American Legion Auxiliary. She's a consultant for the American Council on Education.

Recently Miss Mandigo wrote a book, "Jean Reade in Public Relations," one of the Dodd, Mead Career series aimed to help young women who are seeking a professional future.

Others who have authored books in the series include actress Helen Hayes (theater); New York Herald Tribune staff member, Emma Bugbee (journalism); and Mary Margaret McBride, radio.

Aids Girl's Career

Her book is a novel based on the experiences of a young girl

WOMEN WEAR SAME COATS FOR SCIENCE SAKE

RANGELEY, Maine (AP)—There are 40 women in this little town wearing the same pink coats.

There is no embarrassment, no hasty retreat as one wearer approaches another, or a dozen, or 39. There are smiles and considerable discussion. That's the way it's supposed to be. In Rangeley, at this particular time, it's quite distinctive to be wearing one of these pink coats.

It's all part of an experiment. Rangeley, at 1,540 feet above sea level, is New England's highest village and it's halfway between the North Pole and the Equator. The lake summer resort was selected as testing ground for the Orion acrylic fiber garments. Wanted was a place where evenings are cool enough to require a "topper" in June, July and August.

Retain Test Devise

When the test is ended, the women can keep the coats, in return for reports on their comfort and durability.

The ladies were selected on the basis of varied size, weight and occupation. Each got two coats, differing only in fiber, a calendar on which to record the hours each garment is worn, and detailed questionnaire.

What does the fabric manufacturer want to know?

How does the material "feel" to the women? How about wrinkling, soiling, cleaning?

The women wear each coat on alternate days. The objective is to compare one with the other, from a consumer viewpoint.

Difficult Selections

Choosing the women wasn't easy. Nearly everyone wanted the coats. But the testers were chosen from among housewives, school teachers, waitresses, telephone operators, store and bank clerks and stenographers. Their ages range from 19 through 59.

The coats are worth $35 to $45 each. In fact, one question is: "How much would you be willing to pay for one of these coats?"

"The test is a bit of work, but a lot of fun," says Mrs. Robert Lee. "I'd like to get all my clothing this way."

"They're very warm without being bulky," says Mrs. Norma Wilbur.

Rangeley has a normal population of about 1,250. Figure two-thirds of them children and half of the adults women—about 215—that's a lot of pink coats per female capita.

Apt Piano Teacher Gets Fourth Degree

DES MOINES (AP)—Mrs. Tillie C. Davis of Des Moines is getting used to receiving college certificates and degrees from members of the Harmon family.

When she received a piano teacher's certificate and academy diploma in 1918 from Cotter College at Lincoln, Neb., it was the late A. D. Harmon who presented them to her. Two years later he also handed her a two-year teacher certificate at the same institution.

In 1948 she received a Bachelor of Science in Education degree at Drake University, and was awarded her diploma by Dr. Henry G. Harmon, son of A. D. Harmon. And in 1954 Dr. Harmon handed her the master's degree in Education also at Drake University.

Regional vice president for the southwest-central section of the American Assn. of University Women, Dr. Miller has been named representative of the International Federation to visit university women's groups already in existence in such countries as Mexico, Uruguay and Brazil, and study the possibilities of forming new associations in other countries. She also will visit Haiti, the Dominican Republic and Cuba.

Goodwill Agencies

The percentage of university-trained women is not as high in Central and South American countries as in the United States, but Dr. Miller says women have had relatively free access to college education. In Latin American countries college women usually go into professional life, whereas in this country about half of them are homemakers, she said.

"University women can promote goodwill," Dr. Miller told me on a recent visit to Washington. "I am hoping that by the goodwill expressed by the organization I represent, we may be able in a sense to help counteract some anti-American feelings."

Dr. Miller is also a delegate to the International Congress for UNESCO, to be held in Montevideo late in November, as a representative of the International Federation of University Women.

Language Professor

Head of the foreign language department of the State Teachers College at Emporia, Kan., takes off on a four months' tour of Latin America Aug. 1 to talk with college women in numerous countries and to invite their cooperation in a program of international fellowship and understanding.

Regional vice president for the southwest-central section of the American Assn. of University Women promotion of understanding. She also speaks Spanish fluently. She has been a leading figure in the exchange of college women with Mexico in her southwest central section of Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Arkansas.

Though she lives in a small bungalow in Emporia near the college where she is a popular figure on the campus, her hobby is farming. She grows wheat and corn on nearly acres, loves to go out and boss.

SUN DANGEROUS TO INFANTS AND SMALL CHILDREN

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE M.D.

Sunshine and fresh air are good for youngsters but for goodness sake don't let your children get burned to a crisp.

Not long ago I nearly lost a year-old baby with extensive second degree burns over his back and legs.

His mother was on the verge of a nervous collapse when she realized what she had done to her baby. It was a warm June day with a deep blue cloudless sky. She put the baby in the backyard for his noonday nap.

After an hour she picked him up to discover he was limp and clammy. She could hardly arouse him and he had absolutely no interest in the lunch she had prepared.

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

In God we trust

THIS AFFIRMATION OF FAITH HAS COME DOWN TO US THROUGH THE OLD TESTAMENT, THE NEW TESTAMENT, OUR PARENTS' TEACHINGS, OUR NATIONAL ANTHEM—AND EVEN ON OUR COINS.

THE FIRST APPEARANCE OF THE MOTTO ON OUR COINS WAS ON A BRONZE TWO-CENT PIECE MINTED IN 1864 IN PHILADELPHIA. NOW OUR GOVERNMENT HAS ISSUED ITS FIRST REGULAR STAMP PROCLAMING TO THE WORLD "IN GOD WE TRUST." IT IS AN EIGHT-CENT STAMP, USED PRINCIPALLY FOR INTERNATIONAL MAIL, AND SERVES AS ANOTHER REMINDER OF THE FAITH ON WHICH OUR DEMOCRACY WAS FOUNDED.

call it) is a device of the body to protect it against dangerous doses of sunshine. It develops slowly.

A short exposure the first day can be followed by slightly longer exposures each day thereafter. After a couple of weeks there will be enough tan in the skin so that long exposures will cause no harm.

It is almost always the first doses of sun that do the damage before the tan has developed.

There are some unfortunate people who never tan. Their bodies simply lack the ability to form the protective pigment in the skin. Each time they go into the sun they burn just as most people do the first time.

We don't know any way to give these people the ability to make pigment in their skins. They must be careful. Sunbonnets, long-sleeved shirts and slacks are their only protection.

It is usually very fair-skinned blondes whose ability to make skin pigment is deficient though of course not all blondes fail to tan.

TWICE IS TOO OFTEN

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (P)—If Thomas' Peta and Howard Shafer never see each other again, it will be all right with both of them.

Recently, their cars collided on street here. The damage wasn't extensive but two weeks later they collided head-on on a highway near Orlando. This time, both cars were wrecked and Peta was hospitalized with a pelvic fracture.

OCTOGENARIAN CYCLIST

RICHMOND, Va. (P)—George Whitfield, 80, rode a bicycle 100 miles from Washington, to visit the University of Richmond. Nothing to it, said Whitfield, member of the class of 1892. Last year he pedaled to Lawrence, Kansas, and back—a 1,600 mile jaunt.

SHOULD PARENT BE PUNISHED FOR MISDEEDS OF CHILDREN

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (P)—Should parents be punished for the delinquent acts of their children? Should they be held legally responsible?

With the rising tide of juvenile delinquency this is one of the questions discussed here by a group of top leaders in the field. The group making its report to the Conference on Juvenile Delinquency called by the Department of Health Education and Welfare agreed that "laws putting an absolute liability on parents for the delinquency of their children would be unfair and ineffectual and might even make matters worse."

However, they explained this did not mean that they thought the use of legal measures to hold parents to their responsibilities is always unwarranted.

When Other Methods Fail

Dr. Donald Bloch Children's Psychiatric Service U. S. Public Health Service Research Hospital said one example where such a law could be effective is the one that permits courts to take children away from parents who are mistreating them. Robert C. Taber director of pupil personnel and counseling, Philadelphia public schools told of the city's effective use of the compulsory school attendance law by which the Board of Education last year prosecuted 666 parents on charges of neglect. Fines and costs were assessed and several parents went to jail overnight.

"In 67 per cent of these cases" Taber said "our studies show that the child's attendance improved and we have reason to think the parents took more responsibility as a result of this legal action." Taber pointed out that authority is used only in cases in which the parent is found primarily responsible for the truancy and when other methods fail.

On the statute books of most states today there are provisions whereby juvenile courts can take action against parents as well as other adults who contribute to the delinquency of a minor. There are also bills pending in some states that would put an absolute liability on parents for property damage by children. Negligence on the parents' part would not have to be proved.

Washington News Letter

Though she is not new to this country, her husband having served a year as a delegate to the U. N., Mrs. Leo Mates, wife of the new Yugoslav ambassador, is just now getting acquainted with Washington. An attractive young woman who wears no make-up, she is the mother of two youngsters, 3 years and 1 year old.

The seven young children of Nicaraguan Ambassador de Sevilla-Sacasa and his wife are going to have plenty of room to romp now that the embassy has been set up in a newly-purchased mansion complete with swimming pool and lots of garden space.

Included in the group is a 10-inch model of Lady's former boss. The show is sponsored by the Dollery Club of Washington.

BOOST BUS FARES HARRISBURG (P)—The Valley Transportation Co., which serves suburban communities across the Susquehanna River, will increase its cash bus fare from 15 to 20 cents on Aug. 1.

Tokens now selling 7 for $1 will increase to 3 for 50 cents.

The Public Utility Commission approved the increased fares yesterday. They will raise $45,000 additional revenue annually.

The company said the increase was necessary to meet a wage increase granted to end a six-weeks strike of bus drivers last March.

Issues Booklet On How To Lay A Good Hardwood Floor

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO (AP)—Installing a hardwood floor in new or old construction isn't exactly an easy job nor is it so difficult an amateur couldn't tackle it.

The Maple Flooring Manufacturers Ass'n. in Chicago has prepared a booklet on the subject. It says:

"There's very little more work to good workmanship than to poor workmanship—it's the lack of care, more often than lack of skill, that's responsible for bad floor-laying jobs."

Positively! A floor of Northern hard maple, beech or birch does deserve the care and precautions necessary to lay it properly over a sound sub-structure.

THE FIRST advice is to get counsel on the matter of drainage. Hardwood and water absolutely won't mix. So it is important that no undue moisture gathers near the hardwood floor.

The next measure is to use a softwood—Pine, Douglas fir, spruce or hemlock—subflooring 25-32 inch thick and not over 8 inches wide. The lumber should be well seasoned, preferably kiln-dried, as green or wet boards are sure to warp for the job. They can be spaced shrink and open cracks between finish-flooring strips.

Subfloor boards should be laid diagonally with at least two ten-penny nails at each joist and each board end. The firmness of the hardwood floor depends on how well this is done.

A subfloor of $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch plywood also is highly recommended. Its strength factor is enormous.

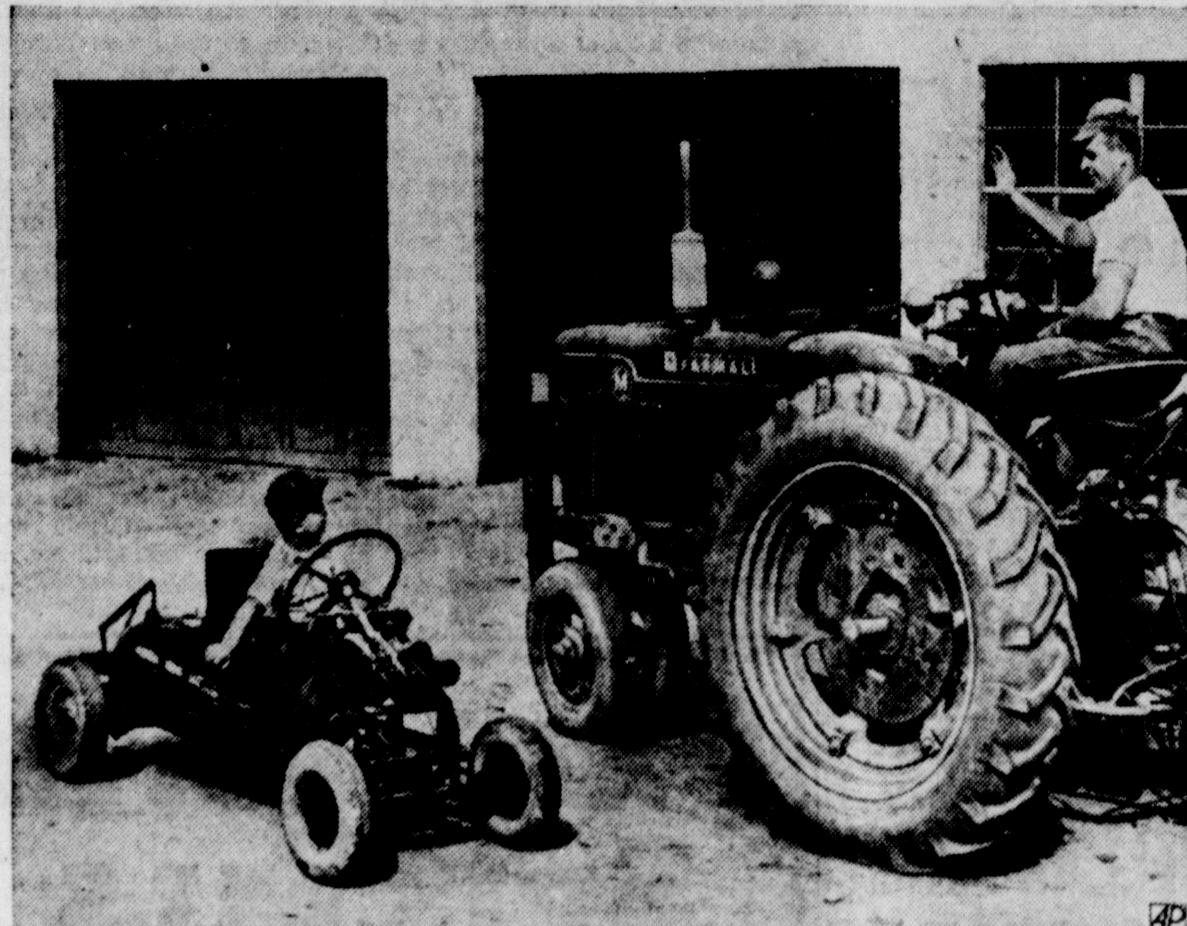

Floor joists should be spaced 16 inches on centers and bridged at least every 8 feet.

YOU CAN USE hardwood flooring over a concrete slab if proper care is taken to prevent moisture damage. If concrete is laid on a grade, an underfill of cinder, washed gravel or the like is essential.

Ground moisture can be barred with waterproofing membrane of felt. Butt the joints of both layers tightly and stagger all joints. Mop layers with hot asphalt pitch and carry membrane at least 6 inches up walls behind baseboard area.

Sleepers or screeds, on which the subfloor will be laid, should be treated with a wood preservative to retard deterioration. You can use 2x2, 2x3 or 2x4-inch members spaced over 16 inches on centers.

The next measure is to use a softwood—Pine, Douglas fir, spruce or hemlock—subflooring 25-32 inch thick and not over 8 inches wide. The lumber should be well seasoned, preferably kiln-dried, as green or wet boards are sure to warp for the job. They can be spaced 16 inches on centers. A layer of sisalkraft paper or approved equal material placed between the subfloor and finish floors helps protect the finish floor from moisture. Tarpaper and ordinary building papers are not recommended, as they sometimes absorb moisture and pass it slowly to the wood floor above.

Never lay floors in a cold or damp building. Heat it for 10 days to at least 70 degrees F. regardless of the season, and store flooring, piled loosely, in the building for at least three days before laying.

START LAYING flooring at one sidewall, square with the room, face-nailing the first piece (a base shoe will conceal nails). An extremely important requirement is to leave not less than $\frac{1}{2}$ inch expansion space at all walls. It helps to prevent buckling.

Use a waste scrap of flooring as a block when tapping home the edge or end of a new strip. This will prevent marring since your finished floor is intended to be as beautiful as the wood in a piece of furniture. Special nails are used because they eliminate splitting. Your lumber dealer can supply them.

Drive the nails through the side tongue at an angle of 45 to 55 degrees. Don't try to drive them home, but sink them with a nail set. Always stagger end joints in adjoining strips.

Floor squeaks are prevented with plenty of nails. Use enough of them in both subfloor and finish floor. Loose sleepers (joists) often cause squeaks, so nail them tightly and use bridging generously.

It Pays To Shop Early In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Leban. (AP)—You have to get up early to outsmart a Beirut bazaar merchant. At any other time of the day, these merchants drive a hard bargain. But if you are the first to enter the shop that day, you become a favored customer. If you show signs of leaving without buying, the merchant may slash his prices 90 per cent. He might follow you to the street and beg you to name your price.

His panic stems from an ancient tradition which says a merchant must sell the first customer of the morning or risk bad business all day.

This is one of the many trading habits which have clung to the "souk" or bazaar, of this Levantine seaport since the ancient Phoenicians bought and sold here thousands of years ago. In many areas Beirut has become a modern city, but in the heart of town the souk still retains the appearance and habits of another age.

LOST MOISTURE

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—After a heavy rain, a farmer complained: "I had 110 per cent runoff—100 per cent water and ten per cent farm!"

Sanding hardwood flooring is the most important part of a good floor finishing job. Scrape and sand with the grain-lengthwise. The finest finish can never make a poorly sanded floor look like anything but a poorly sanded floor.

TOAD USED IN TEST HELD BY CONGRESSMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cat that looked at a king had nothing on the radioactive toad that looked at a congressman.

The big, fat two-pounder stared right at Rep. Hinshaw (R-Calif.) and drew approval for the atomic energy show it put on.

The Bermuda-born croaker, a bufo agua, was used as a prop by a University of Chicago scientist to demonstrate a new atomic energy technique for studying the nature and action of various drugs such as digitalis—substance used in treating certain forms of heart trouble.

A sub-committee of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy is holding hearings designed to bring out contributions of nuclear energy to medical research and treatment. Hinshaw, chairman of the subcommittee, was the lone member present when the toad put on its act.

The toad-toting scientist, Dr. E.M.K. Geiling, explained that all toads can produce a digitalis-like material and that, in fact, ancient peoples used this toad secretion to treat certain heart ailments.

True Digitalis Best

He said that true digitalis—derived from the foxglove plant—is a better material but that big toads offer a ready source for studying digitalis-like materials as they are produced by a living system—perhaps opening up possibilities for producing artificial materials that might be even better than regular digitalis.

Geiling made his toad radioactive so that the digitalis-like substance would be made radioactive—thus allowing investigation of its action inside the toad's body. The toad got its radioactive dose by being fed radioactive carbon.

slugs which in turn had fed upon plants grown from seeds containing radioactive carbon.

Hinshaw obviously enjoyed the demonstration, but if he has any bad luck, he can blame it on the toad. Dr. Geiling says, there's a legend among some natives of the Bahamas that the bufo agua is accursed.

UNIFORMS FOR ARMY

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Army Capt. William A. Fahnestock usually gets a $50 uniform allowance. The last check, by mistake, was made out for $23,928. "That wasn't so bad," he said "but they transposed the 'e' in my name so I couldn't cash it."

URGES INCREASE IN SERVING OF BROILED TURKEY

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

Broiling Turkey is a kitchen technique that deserves to have wider acceptance. We first got interested in this way of cooking the bird via one of our favorite cookbooks — published early in the century. There we found it featured on at least half a dozen menus. Three of these late-Victorian ways of serving broiled turkey are particularly appealing: with broiled bacon and water cress, grilled sweet potatoes or thin slices of lightly broiled Virginia ham.

If you want to try broiling turkey, get yourself one of the young brolly-fryer turkeys now available. We have used the four-to-five pound (ready-to-cook weight) turkeys with great success, and they are meaty enough to give generous servings.

To prepare the bird for the broiling:

ing pan, have it quartered and the neck, wing tips, keel bone and spinal bone removed. Clean in cold water and dry. Before broiling, we like to rub the quartered turkey with a generous amount of olive oil and dust it with paprika; we season with salt and freshly-ground pepper after broiling.

Famous Hagenbeck Circus Disbands Rather Than Raise 12 Cent Price To Children

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—The Carl Hagenbeck circus, remembered fondly by millions of Americans, has been drowned in red ink. The show started in a small way in 1887 but grew through the years. Later, when it toured the United States, it was one of the big bigtops.

At its peak it traveled in 120 railroad cars with 250 animals and performers and other employees to the owner, and Carl Heinrich Hagenbeck, a nephew, say they could not pay expenses and maintain their 12-cent price for children's tickets. They closed the show rather than charge the children more.

Name Remains

The Hagenbeck name still remains in the circus world. There is a Wilhelm Hagenbeck circus and a Willy Hagenbeck circus. But the Carl Hagenbeck circus owners turned down a Spanish bid for their whole show. They did not want to see it operate under another name. Now it's scattered all over Europe.

If you have an electric-glass tray you will find it perfect for serving. We like to cut the wings from the breast meat, and the drumsticks from the thighs before putting the broiled turkey on the tray; this makes eating easier and also helps family and guests to share their favorite parts. With the tray plugged into a convenient outlet, the turkey stays deliciously hot without drying out.

We prefaced a broiled turkey supper, recently, with a quick chilled cream of clam soup. To make the soup use a can of New England type clam chowder or a can of vichyssoise, a can of minced clams (about 7-ounce size) and a cup of cream or milk — or a mixture of cream and milk — to start with, and more cream or milk to get the flavor and consistency you like. Let the soup stand in the refrigerator long enough to blend flavors and chill. At serving time, sprinkle each serving with minced chives; or use finely chopped green onion tops — though chives are best.

Serve Curried Rice

With the broiled turkey we served curried rice and chutney. To prepare the rice, steam a cup of converted-type rice according to package directions until the water has been absorbed. Toss with 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine ed up with a lot of different kinds of padding and buckram stiffening so it could virtually stand by itself.

The creation of a famous American designer, it was a replica of one worn during the winter social season by top hostess, Mrs. Morris Cafritz. It was marked down to $350.

Incidentally, the spectacular Gwen is driving a very flossy, new foreign-made convertible about town. It's sparkling white with bright red upholstery.

Fashion Shows Popular

Fashion shows are as popular with Egyptian women as they are in the United States, says Mrs. Hussein, wife of the Turkish ambassador.

Women in Cairo and Alexandria dress much as they do in Paris, London, New York and Washington. If you want to look at the colorful native costumes, Mrs. Hussein says you have to go to the villages and countryside, though you'll see some interesting attire in the bazaars. Professional dressmakers of Egypt are artful in copying Paris styles which sophisticated urban women prefer. The younger women seem to like the casual American fashions they can buy in their department stores. However, sewing has become a fad, especially among the women of leisure. Mrs. Hussein herself has taken up the art, she says, and makes many of her own lovely dresses.

Easy Delivery Is Important Quality For A Good Pitcher

By CARL HUBBELL
(Written For AP)

Pitching is the most important factor in any baseball game.

A good pitcher must have a number of qualities. However, in a boy just out of high school, we look for a kid who can throw reasonably hard and who has a free and easy motion.

When a boy has this he has something to work on.

Don't worry about throwing too many different pitches. With so many games on television and radio today kids are more interested in baseball than ever. However, often they hear that one pitcher is throwing a fast ball, a curve, a slider, a sinker, a knuckleball, and a change of pace. Some kids, naturally, think we need six pitches to become successful.

TRY TOO MANY PITCHES

They try to master six pitches and as a result they master none.

If you have any three good pitches that you can get over the plate you have the makings of a major league. The three preferable pitches are the fast ball, curve and change of pace.

I think Carl Erskine of Brooklyn has the best change-up in either league. Robin Roberts of the Phillies has a good fast ball and Sal Maglie is a good example of a curve ball pitcher at his best. He has two or three different kinds of curve ball.

My tip is to watch these fellows when you get the chance.

Try to use the same motion on every pitch. You've got to do this to get very far.

Ten Qualifications

Here are the 10 things a fellow needs to become a good pitcher:

1. A limber arm. 2. Stamina because sometimes nine innings seem like a long haul. 3. Two or three good pitches which should be practiced until you know how each will react. 4. Control. 5. Competitive courage. 6. Endurance. 7. Intelligence. 8. The ability to size up a hitter. 9. Confidence. 10. Fielding skill.

Tricky deliveries may succeed on the sandlots but as a pitcher moves into faster company he will find that the pitch that overpowers a good hitter will be his best weapon.

Pitching mechanics are important, too. Faulty form beats pitchers more often than opposing hitters, and often explains arm ailments. A smooth, easy delivery, perfected by attention to detail, is a big aid to control.

The pitching delivery should be broken down and analyzed to reveal six distinct actions: Windup; Stretch; Leg Lift; Stride; Body Pivot and Follow Through.

Windup Aids Rhythm

The Windup promotes rhythm. It starts with the hands brought forward and then upward over the head. The Stretch brings the pitching arm behind the head. The Leg Lift gets drive into the motion, while the Stride is an important element for control. Most young pitchers lose power and accuracy because they over-stride.

In the Body Pivot the weight shifts from the rear foot to the front foot. Follow Through enables the pitcher to get his body into the pitch and is another control element. A pitcher constantly throwing the ball too high generally is failing to follow through properly.

How Hop Is Given

To deliver a fast ball, the pitcher should grip it tightly with the index and middle fingers on top of the ball, and the thumb underneath. The fingers are usually placed across the seams, but if along them, then at the place where the seams are closest together.

When pitched, the ball rolls from

MAKES NEW LIGHT MAYONNAISE— NO HEAVINESS!

Nothing like it ever before—the new LIGHT mayonnaise—with no old-fashioned weighty heaviness. Mrs. Filbert makes it.

It's light with foamy egg yolks, light with delicate egg whites. The salad oil is so light it fluffs away—all you taste is the smooth richness; you'd hardly know there was any oil in it! Mrs. Filbert uses the gentlest vinegar. Even her spices are soft-flavored. "And I use real lemon juice for sparkle," she says. So good!

under the fingers. This reverse rotation gives the ball back-spin, causing it to "hop."

The grip for the curve is the same as for the fast ball. With the pitch, the ball rolls over the fingers as the wrist is snapped sharply to provide forward spin for the ball. The thumb does its work as it comes over with the wrist snap. The wrist action and snap is important to get more spin on the ball, thus providing a better breaking ball.

All curves should be thrown low to a batter. The ball takes more spin that way, breaks away from the batter and is hard to hit.

The change of pace differs from the fast ball only in the manner in which it is held. Where the fast ball is gripped tightly, the change of pace is held lightly by the index and middle fingers.

SCOUT MANUAL FRUITFUL SOURCE OF CAMP HINTS

By The Associated Press

If you and your family have a home to cook outdoors while you are vacationing, the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. will give you plenty of tips. They practice the whole year through. And come August 20, the hundreds of Girl Scouts will acquire even more know-how when at various points they enter the Appalachian Trail — stretching from upper Pennsylvania through Virginia — for a three-day hike and cook-outs galore.

The scout's manual, "Cooking Outdoors," is full of handy hints. Along with over 50 pages of recipes for one-pot meals, "stick" cooking and other kinds of out-door dishes, the manual has directions for building fires, kinds of fuel to use, methods of food care and cook-out organization. In addition to solid information, there are intriguing suggestions. This one, for instance, giving a substitute for soda in bread-making, makes any adventurous family want to hit the trail:

Ash Yeast

"Instead of soda, use an equal amount of the white of wood ashes and mix it dry with flour. It makes bread rise the same as soda, and it isn't possible to tell the difference. The best ashes are those of hickory, dogwood, sugar maple, and corncocks; but the ashes of beech, ash, buckeye, balsam poplar, and yellow poplar are also good."

Nothing daunts the camping scouts — whether they are braising ham in a beanhole, having a fish bake or an imu. No utensils are needed for the imu. According to the scouts, it's a mode of cooking that was used in ancient days by Mediterranean countries: Meso-potamia, Afghanistan, Siberia and Japan. When they follow this early cooking technique, the scouts heat rocks in a pit in the ground, place food (wrapped in dampened grape, hickory or other nut leaves) next to the hot rocks, and cover the pit with earth to seal in the heat.

Flapjack Beater

No beater handy for those flapjacks? Don't give it a second thought. Cut a three-forked branch or twigs from a tree and use it as a beater by twirling or rolling it in the flapjack batter between the palms of your hands.

Tin cans come in for how-to-do-it testing, too. In preparation for cook-outs, scouts at trap meetings learn to make kettles, stoves, corn poppers, skillets, toasters and broilers out of various sizes of tin cans. Tin shears and a sturdy scout knife help — skill and ingenuity do the rest.

Berry picking is half the fun of camping, and of course Girl Scouts sometimes put their berries in muffins. Because non-fat dry milk is easy to pack and carry, and stays fresh, the scouts include it in their pack and use it for drinking and cooking in reliquified or powdered form. Here is their Blueberry Muffin recipe, calling for powdered nonfat milk. If you want to bake these good muffins indoors as we did, halve the recipe and fill 12 muffin cups (about 2 1/4 inches measured across the top or 1/2 cup size) about two-thirds full; bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven about 25 minutes. And remember that the batter should be slightly lumpy, and not mixed until smooth or you will have peaks and tunnels. The nonfat dry milk gives the muffins a delightful golden-brown crust.

Soviets Seek Return Of Russian Refugees

TOKYO (AP)—The Russians and their descendants who fled the Communist Revolution years ago apparently are being cleared out of Communist China. A Peking broadcast heard here said "Soviet residents in China have warmly welcomed the recent decision of the government of the U.S.S.R. to take back to the homeland Soviet citizens who have been living in China."

Russia made a pitch to get back the White Russians in China even before the Communists took over there. Some went back after receiving Soviet assurances of fair treatment. Enough got back to China to bring letters painting grim conditions in Russia to discourage any great exodus. Many

DAMAGES ARE MORE THAN VEHICLE COST

DETROIT (AP)—Traffic Referee Rollin D. Shull ruled it wasn't up to him to decide whether a $340 automobile could sustain $650 damages.

Jack Lichtig complained James Andrews ran red light and did $550 damages to Lichtig's car. Shull asked what Lichtig's car cost when he bought it and got $340 for the answer, but Lichtig quickly added: "A garage says it'll take $550 to fix it up. That's all I know."

Shull fined Andrews $20 forreckless driving; ordered damages fixed in civil court proceedings.

CANT' TELL PASTORS

POOLES, Ga. (AP)—Churchfolk had identification troubles when C. E. Smith Jr. (not the other's son) was pastor of the Methodist Church.

The Methodist Smith was transferred and replaced by Gilbert Ransey. But that didn't solve everything because the pastor of the Rothwell Street Baptist Church is Carter Ramsey.

Many Accompaniments

There are so many appropriate accompaniments to Cover-up Salmon. Here are four of them that are particularly suitable in warm weather.

1. Bundles of whole green beans (home-cooked or canned) marinated in a vinaigrette sauce. To make the sauce just mix olive or other salad oil, vinegar, a suspicion of dry mustard, salt and, freshly ground pepper. The beans should be cold, of course, and at serving time may be topped with thin rings of onion.

2. A relish of whole-kernel corn, finely diced celery and sweet red or green pepper in an old-fashioned dressing of vinegar, sugar, salt and freshly ground pepper.

3. Drained bundles of canned or frozen cooked asparagus "tied" with strips of canned pimento.

4. Thin slices of fluted cucumber and sprigs of water cress.

Cover-up Salmon

Ingredients: One 1-pound can red salmon, 4 slices bread, 1 tablespoon lemon or lime juice, 1/2 cup mayonnaise.

Method: Open salmon can at end; carefully turn out salmon in one piece. Cut salmon crosswise, into 4 slices. Use empty salmon can to cut each slice of bread into rounds. Place bread rounds on broiler rack to toast lightly on one side. Place salmon slices, using wide spatula, on untoasted side of bread rounds; sprinkle with lemon juice. Place on broiler rack with surface of food about 3 inches below heat. Broil 5 to 8 minutes, or until salmon is heated through. Watch so as not to scorch and adjust rack or sides of salmon with mayonnaise; broil 2 to 3 minutes longer. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Alice's Variation: Place a thin round of onion on top of salmon before putting under broiler. When salmon rounds are ready, garnish center top with capers. Serve for lunch or supper on a dinner plate.

Place tomato slice on each side of salmon-round; top each slice with half a hard-cooked egg and surround with shredded lettuce.

For dessert with Cover-up Salmon, we suggest a refreshing fresh fruit course. You might serve cantaloupe rings filled with fresh blueberries or blackberries. Or sliced fresh peach halves sprinkled with a little finely diced preserved (syrup-packed) ginger. Or just offer big slices of plain icy-cold watermelon!

White Russians, with the help of the International Relief Organization, got out of China before and after the Communist conquest of the mainland. How many remain is not known.

The dinner was followed by coffee and liqueurs in the Aztec garden.

Dr. Lleras, who resigned after serving 6 years of his 10-year term, will be succeeded by Carlos Davila, Chilean diplomat and newspaper executive. Mr. Davila, who will take up his new duties in August, is now director of the newspaper La Nacion of Santiago. He is well known in Washington where he served as ambassador from 1927 to 1931. He was provisional president of Chile once—for about 72 hours. He is round, mustachioed, dapper, and 67. Father of two beautiful daughters, Paz and Luz, now married, he was widowed in 1933 and remarried in 1950.

His present wife is the former Frances Adams of Virginia, who has a daughter, Adeline, by a former marriage.

WRITER SAYS FOR BEST FUN TRAVEL ALONE

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
(AP Newsfeatures Writer)

That once-forlorn creature, the solitary bird of passage, today is the pet pigeon of the travel people. At the moment everybody is being urged to head for distant places, in groups and teams if they must, but preferably alone.

Not only were they on the verge of cutting each other dead after their enforced intimacy, but they have every reason to believe they got along.

Perhaps this development stems from the increasing popularity of plane travel, for obviously it's far simpler to schedule a solo passenger than, say, a jolly party of 15. Or perhaps the makers of itineraries and the sellers of tickets figure that those who prefer traveling in packs will do it that way anyway, whereas the lone wolves need a little encouragement, particularly if they are women.

However, I prefer to believe that the present emphasis on the pleasures of small-unit travel comes from the tourists themselves, rediscovering the hard way what Thoreau—the philosophical gentleman who "travelled widely in Concord"—told them exactly 100 years ago, to wit:

"The man who goes alone can start today, but he who travels with another must wait till that other is ready."

CHECK COMPANIONS

This can in no way be construed as an advocacy of separate vacations for married folk. By law and by popular opinion, husband and wife constitute a single unit, together with children, if any. The sage of Walden, and wise travelers who have followed him, merely were urging extreme caution in the selection of companions in tourism.

The most unhappy couple I've seen in a long time recently returned from a six-week spin along the Grand Tour route in the company of their dearest friends, the young couple next door with whom they have every reason to believe they got along.

NEVER DANGEROUS

Choice of a traveling companion or companions can be equally unhappy for unattached females, however youthful and attractive. I've never heard a girl, traveling alone, complain about the perils of the wild world, but there's no point in closing the door deliberately on opportunities.

Most experienced travelers thus wind up preferring the freedom and independence that comes from touring on their own. And in this day of seeing the world on a two-week vacation, another quote—this time from Kipling—is apropos: "He travels fastest who travels alone." So does she.

A hazard to be avoided at all costs is any footloose male. Not, of course, that all single women are husband-hunting while sight-seeing, but there's no point in closing the door deliberately on opportunities.
